nected with the history of the Materia Medica of the inted States, or more favorably known as the ploneer of medical discovery, than that of Dr. JOHN BULL, of Louisville, Ky. His inimitable preparation of Sarsaparilla, has long stood at the head of the various comounds of that valuable drug. His Compound Pectoral of Wild Cherry has become a household word throughou the West and South, and his Worm Lozenges, in less than a year after their introduction, attained a reputation as wide spread as the continent of North America. But the crowning glory of his life remains to be attained in his latest discovery, or rather combination, for he does not claim to have been the discoverer of CEDRON, which is the basis of the bitters now offered to the public. That honor belongs to the native inhabitants of Central America, to whom its virtues have been known for more than two hundred years. Armed with it, the Incian bids defiance to the most deadly malaria, and handles without fear the most venomous serpents. It is a belief with them that while there is a breath left in the body the Cedron is potent to cure, no matter what the disease may be. While Dr. Bull is not prepared to endorse this extrava gant pretension, he is nevertheless satisfied from a thorough examination of the evidences relating to its virtues. that, as a remedy and preventive for all diseases arising from exposure either to changes of weather and climate, or to the miasmatic influences, it stands without a rival and justly deserves the reputation it has long enjoyed in STOVES, HOLLOW-WARE, &c.
